

Postdoctoral position available in the lab of Alexandra Pietersen at the National Cancer Centre Singapore to study the role of Wip1 phosphatase in mammary stem cells and its potential role in radiation resistance of tumor-initiating cells.

For more information see www.pietersenlab.com.